

PSANZ Nutrition Research Award

This award, sponsored by the Nestle Nutrition Institute is valued at AUD $5,000.

This award will be presented to the presenter of the best oral or poster presentation on the topic of maternal or neonatal nutrition.

The PSANZ Early Life Nutrition Research Award may be awarded to a researcher at any stage of their career.

Nominations for consideration for the award will not be requested.

- A short list of nominees will be generated by the Conference Local Organising Committee, based on review of submitted abstracts.
Presentations of short-listed abstracts (posters and/or oral presentations according to programming) will be judged by members of the Congress Awards Judging Panel.
- The PSANZ Early Life Nutrition Research Award will be presented along with other awards from the Society at the Closing Session of the Annual Congress.
- The recipient of the PSANZ Early Life Nutrition Research Award will receive a cash prize, the amount of which is dependent upon funds provided by the Award's sponsor.
- By accepting the award, the recipient agrees to provide a brief summary of their research for (a) the PSANZ Newsletter and (b) media purposes. A short list of nominees will be generated by the Conference Local Organising Committee, based on review of submitted abstracts.